"Hartford House was originally written as a duet to be played partially in unison with David Grier on guitar. It is taken from numerous tune sources. John Hartford used to have weekend long Christmas parties at his home in Nashville. There was music on every floor and porch performed by every name string band musician you could think of every minute of the day until midnight or more, at which point the party would stop long enough for everyone to go home and sleep. The tune was written in commemoration of this yearly event." Mike Compton
